

RSG India Annual Symposium CBInd 2023-24 Abstract Submission Guidelines

We invite abstracts from research typical to bioinformatics and computational biology, which is in progress (unpublished) or previously published (but has never been submitted to any of the earlier ISCB Student Council Symposiums) for consideration for an oral and/or poster presentation. The deadline for submitting an abstract for both oral and poster presentations is 21 December, 2023.

Submit your abstract through this Google form: <https://forms.gle/Xv7ErNC8FdFWW7weA>

Detailed guidelines

1. The work submitted should broadly fall into the domain of bioinformatics and computational biology.
2. Unpublished work is encouraged, but published work is also accepted (provided it has never been submitted to any of the ISCB Student Council Symposiums before).

3. All abstracts will be evaluated based on scientific relevance criteria (i.e 1. clarity, 2. usability, 3. uniqueness, 4. relevance to the computational biology field, and 5. completeness).
4. Please keep the abstract title as concise as possible, while still effectively representing your research. Refrain from using uppercase characters except for the first character.
5. The abstract should not exceed 250 words and must be structured into four separate sections:
 - a. Background: the context and purpose of the study
 - b. Methodology
 - c. Result: significant findings from the study
 - d. Conclusions: brief summary and potential implications.
6. Your abstract must not contain your title/position or personal information (e.g., affiliation). These details will be collected through the submission system.
7. The presentation is individual (having multiple co-authors is acceptable, but only the presenting author will receive the presentation/award certificate. All authors' information will be included in the abstract book).
8. One person can deliver one presentation only.
9. The presenting author must be a part of the original research work.
10. Submitters may choose to have their submission reviewed for “oral only”, “oral or poster,” or “poster only”. If you select "oral or poster," your abstract will first be considered for an oral presentation. If, unfortunately, it does not secure an oral presentation slot, it will be evaluated for potential inclusion in the poster presentation category.
11. Please do not use abbreviations or references in the abstract.
